

AI sometimes hallucinated, but I believe the context and the memory session is the issue of AI. When the context is too large, it may impact the quality of the answer. Moreover, every session, if I do not use AI Agent, I have to give the files I'm working on to provide context to AI, and I have to repeat doing this every work session. Maybe my work session is not optimized and there are maybe solutions to this problem, but this is kind of drawback that I personally witness when I'm collaborating with AI.
